

CELEBRATING THE FINALE OF THE CROSS COUNTRY RELAY -RALLY;
"WALK A MILE IN MY SHOES"
FOR NATIONAL EPIDERMOLYSIS BULLOSA AWARENESS WEEK.

Halloween Party

WHAT: Celebrate National EB Awareness Week

WHERE: Stanford Hospital Atrium (ground floor)
300 Pasteur Drive, Palo Alto, CA 94304

WHEN: Wednesday, October 31st, 2007

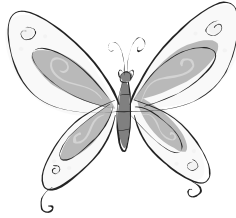

FROM: 4:00 until 6:30pm

HALLOWEEN ACTIVITIES FOR KIDS AND GOODIES TO ENJOY.

Come in a costume!

WALK A MILE IN MY SHOES RELAY-RALLY

g in the EB Relay and associated Rallies!

This is an opportunity to connect and celebrate last year's legislative triumph, share stories, meet people fighting the good fight, and "pay it forward" in kindness and generosity. This is a chance for all men and women, abled and disabled, to be an advocate and challenge themselves to feats of heroism; a wonderful time for acknowledging and appreciating the bonds, support and emotions we share.

With every footstep or every turn of the pedal, or every mile you drive, you will be a Samaritan, an Ambassador of hope, paving the way to a healthier future for people with EB. Our dream of effective treatments and a cure are almost within view. You and I cannot heal their bodies, but awareness is what can heal a heart. We can help to lighten their burdens. Your mission is the mission you give yourself. Amazing things can happen when we all join forces!

More info at: www.ebrelay.org