April Meservy

Singer-songwriter April Meservy (from Reno, NV) has had the opportunity to share her voice in numerous places, including invitations to perform in China and at Olympic Square during the 2002 Winter Olympics in Salt Lake City. Diverse in style, her vocals can be heard on recordings ranging from jazz/blues to pop/rock, from contemporary gospel to classical. She was honored with Pearl Awards for "Studio Vocalist of the Year" in 2004, 2005, and 2007, "Contemporary Recorded Song" in 2005, and "Devotional Recorded Song" in 2007. April graduated from BYU in 2004 with two music degrees and is currently recording "Harvest of Change," an album of original music.

Noteworthy

Based in Provo, UT, the Noteworthy ladies seek to uplift all those that hear and see them sing. After producing highly acclaimed recordings, touring throughout the United States, and winning the 2007 International Championship of Collegiate A Cappella, it is no surprise that this nine-voice, all-female ensemble has quickly become one of the most popular a cappella groups in the nation. Look around the site to learn more about these unique Noteworthy ladies and combined choirs:

Aurora Children's Choir

Scera Children's Theater

Jamie Hartley

Soprano singer Jamie Hartley was born with EB, a rare, painful, and disfiguring skin disease. Inspired by a boy soprano voice that pierced to her heart at age 14, she followed her dream to project the same edifying awe she felt to others, with her own voice. She has sung with her school choirs while attending Ricks College and BYU, and has been a featured soloist singing in concert halls and churches all over the USA. Jamie is traveling with the EB Awareness Advocacy Team, helping raise awareness across the nation during this EB awareness week.
